Subject: AZ-CA Power line

Mr. Gleason,

I urge you to vote "NO" on the proposal to allow the construction of power lines from AZ to CA. benefits to Arizonans in allowing such a thing to occur are far outweighed by the costs. Arizonans would bear the environmental burden of the power plants and the power would go to California. It would increase energy prices in Arizona, thereby more than offsetting and tax or employment benefits. I recently read an Article in the "Republic" that stated that, at peak consumption, Arizona already uses only 60% of the power produced in Arizona, the rest being sold out of state. Arizona's lax regulatory environment encourages the building of power plants here for energy to be used elsewhere. The benefits for the Con Edisons of this world are clear. A vote for the proposed measure would sell out Arizonans' interests to big energy and basically constitute corporate welfare. Please vote "NO".

If you think a yes vote serves Arizonans, would you mind explaining why?

Sincerely,

Alan Price
